Quarterly Slates Exhibition Of Student Masterpieces

John B. Tillman, the chairman of art for the Evergreen Quarterly, announces that the magazine is sponsoring an Art Exhibit in the near future. The deadline for submitting projects will be on January 12, and all work should be submitted to the Quarterly office in the Student Union building at anytime before this date.

Exhibits can be sculpture, paintings, pen and ink sketches, woodcuts, photographic studies, or any other medium. All entrees must be at least 8" by 10" or larger and should be properly mounted for the final exhibition.

Editor-in-Chief Joe France and Art Editor Barry Tillman inspect one of the art entrees.

Prizes consisting of ribbons or, more likely, medals will be awarded in each class mentioned above.

Judging of all exhibits will take place on January 10 or 11, and the decisions, which will take the full time on both of these days, will be final.

They Shall Return

All projects will be returned to the entrants after the judge's have made their decisions and awarded the prizes. Public exhibition of all art works will be held in the lounge, where many of our own Fine Arts critics can review them at leisure.

Music Club Redecorates

During the long Christmas holiday, the Music Club room was redecorated. The money for this project was donated by Mr. S.L. Hammerman, whose name the room bears, and who had originally donated the money for the existence of the room.

New decorations consist of four chairs, a sofa, three coffee tables, a few new lamps. These furnishings will allow members to sit in comfort while listening to the hi-fi and stereo records, which are improved by the acoustical ceiling.

Building Fund Drive Opens

Since the first week of December, three prominent Baltimoreans have been heading a campaign among the city business and industry executives for financial support needed to construct the new Engineering-Physics Building at Loyola College.

The co-chairmen of the inter-faith committee raising the money, needed to build the new science facility, are: Mr. Henry P. Irr, president and board chairman of the Baltimore Federal Saving and Loan Association; T. Newell Cox, executive vice-president of the Consolidated Engineering Company; Samuel M. Hecht, chairman of the board of the Hecht Company.

Work on the building is scheduled for February. The sum of $400,000 is needed to complete the overall financing of $1,500,000.

Spot News

The Better Half?

Unfortunately, due to too much Christmas mirth and a shortage of news, the editor and staff of the Greyhound were forced to publish another two page issue. Taking all things into consideration, the gross lack of writers also weighed heavily on the decision.

Home for the Holidays

We are happy to report that Tom Lampiri spent the holidays at home. He left the hospital Christmas Eve and is doing fine.

A Fine Ensign

On November 18, Clifford A. Mullen, of Baltimore was commissioned a Navy Ensign, upon completion of 16 weeks of training at the Naval School in Pensacola, Florida. Cliff is a graduate of the Loyola College class of '60.

Who Writes Short Shorts?

The Thomas More Association and the McGeary Foundation are co-sponsoring a short story contest. A prize of $1,000 will be given for the best short story submitted by an under graduate student at a Catholic College in the United States. Works must be original and not previously published work of a college student. The manuscripts must be typed and received before April 1, 1961. For more information see the editor of the Evergreen Quarterly.

The Watchdog

Over the holidays, we had the golden opportunity of playing Post Office with the Laukaitis losers for a week. You know, you'd never think a thing like a job could effect people and yet, Al Budacz has been seen writing poison-pen letters to Lassie, and we have begun to believe that people without mail slots or boxes are definitely Communist-incited neurotics.

During the mail rush, a Loyola student stopped Mike Cataneo on the street to ask him about his overloaded mail sack. As it turned out, Mike wasn't even working for the post office but was merely taking his father's weekly receipts to the bank. Oh well, Noblesse Oblige?

Speaking of Mike, he was approached by a man selling Jewish bonds for the "Exodus" premiere. Mike's father obliged by buying Israel. Well, it's better than a crusade, Bunky.

Wandering about the campus, we couldn't help but to notice the large tower on the Faculty House. What fairy princess could be being held captive in this mideaval dungeon. C'mon, you can guess, Kant you?

Here are the Watchdog's predictions for campus events which should occur at Evergreen in 1961.

John Connor will try to start a new military style by raising a cover for his upper lip.

Rol Sturm will ask to have Connor giggled because the moustache will make him look unshaven.

Rol Sturm will ge giggled.

Dick Prodey will finally move his car off the senior lot.

The army will suddenly decide to enlarge its tank hatches in order to be ready for a certain citizen of Jellystone Park who has decided to go into armor.

Jim Taylor will disclose that he is the real Dean of Men.

The Math department will announce plans to begin a search for the most puzzling mathematical formula since Einstein's theory, Dr. Varga's curve.

Someone will pass the Fine Arts course.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

PETE COOK

Ass't Sports Editor

Tomorrow the winter sports schedule takes on a full aspect for the first time this season. The basketball, swimming and wrestling teams all have important contests.

Busy Week

The cagers take on Washington College at 8:15 here at Evergreen. The Sho'men gave the Hounds a run for their money last year and this year are expected to be just as tough. This will be the third Mason Dixon skirmish for the Reitzmen, having engaged Western Maryland and Baltimore U. thus far.

Tuesday and Thursday the court men have two other conference affairs meeting Towson State Teachers here at 8:15 and Catholic University in Washington at 8:00, respectively.

Grapplers Open Season

The swimmers travel to Gettysburg, Pennsylvania to engage the Bullets in a non-conference meet. They are 2-0 so far and are favored to win this one. The only discouraging factor is that the Green and Grey have never won in the host's pool. The Hounds will be out to see that there will be a first time in that catagory.

The matmen open their 1961 season here at Loyola tomorrow at 2:30 facing ever powerful Johns Hopkins. Last year Coach Dick Clem's crew dropped a 31-8 decision to that other Charles Street school. They will be out to better that score and the break even conference mark of last year. B.U. will also visit the Evergreen campus on Thursday for a match.

Intramurals

In the intramural football league only two games remain to be played to decide the champion. The Hound Dogs and Moleskins are the survivor's in the winner's bracket while the Chem-Meds and the Dukes are left in the loser's bracket. The IM Bowling League is still in operation at the Guilford Lanes.

The Greyhound Salutes

Dick Prodey

Few persons present at Loyola Night will deny that one of the highlights of the evening was certainly the fine job of emceeing by Dick Prodey. This amply illustrated one of the many talents of the versatile senior class president. Commenting on the festivities of that evening, Dick noted, "It was certainly one of the best crowds ever present at Loyola Night and gave the school a good opportunity to demonstrate some fine local humor."

Three Time President

Dick's past three years at Loyola have been marked by a considerable contribution both to his own class of '61 and to the school in general. During his freshman and sophomore years, he was elected president of the class, and again elected last May to the same position. He is also a member of the Pershing Rifles, serves as operations officer for the brigade, and is a member of the Student Council.

A Busy Daddy

Dick's responsibilities extend beyond the school. As a married man and the father of an eight month old boy, he also manages to hold down an outside job at a retail food chain and tutor students in English.

Future Plans

The affable senior's plans after graduation include entering the counter intelligence corps of the Army and also the Army language school. In addition to his major, English, Dick's interests include psychology and philosophy. Later plans indicate the possibility of teaching high school English.

Right now, Dick is making plans to spend most of his time (if there's any left) working with the student council and the senior class. Immediate plans for the senior activities include a Prohibition Dance, a jazz concert, and, of course, the many events of senior week.

The Greyhound proudly salutes Dick Prodey, outstanding student and devoted father.

Mr. & Mrs. Richard Prodey and their son, Richard Michael.

Exodus

A Review

Two Saturdays ago, this reporter, along with three other friends, made the exodus to see the film of the same name. Much can be said about the film. It is, unfortunately, longer than BEN-HUR, yet in this case, the length is readily noticable.

The story is very different from that of the Leon Uris best-seller from which it had supposedly been lifted, and the general impression about the theatre was "What's going on?". Without a thorough knowledge of the book, one is easily lost in the entanglement of what is being presented as a movie. The acting is adequate but, with a different cast, could have been superior.

The film does have some merits such as the scene in which Dov (Sal Mineo) is being interrogated, but scenes such as this are few and far between. The film, filmed in Israel, is beautiful and makes and excellent travelogue, but as a motion picture, it is about two hours too long.
